REPOSÉ SOFA

The feeling of home

The Reposé Sofa is designed to bring the comfort of home to any space beyond the living room. Its name, Reposé, is a reference to the comfort of the sofa, designed to provide the ultimate relaxation as the perfect place to rest. The design also aims to recreate the relaxed, inviting atmosphere of your home, wherever it is placed. Whether placed in a hotel, office, or other public setting, Reposé offers the same level of comfort and encourages you to relax and lounge more freely, meant to offer a home-away-from-home experience.

The Reposé sofa encapsulates a sense of casual elegance. Its loose upholstery gives the sofa a distinctive, lived-in look that enhances the relaxed atmosphere it creates. As people sit and rise, the upholstery naturally forms creases, adding to its charm and reinforcing the sense of a space that feels truly lived in. Despite its relaxed aesthetic, the Reposé sofa has a solid construction, ensuring that it feels soft while remaining durable. The sofa is crafted in Northeast Italy by a family-owned company with a rich legacy of upholstery production. The sofa comes with a removable cover that can be easily attached and detached with a velcro closure at the bottom. This design allows for cleaning of the textiles and makes it simple to swap out covers if needed.

Built on the same principle of modularity as the Studio Sofa, Reposé offers a great deal of flexibility. The modular approach allows users to experiment with different setups, making Reposé equally suitable for both large, open areas and smaller, more intimate settings. The sofa is available with an armrest as a separate module, which is easy to attach and just as easily removed with no tools required. This flexibility allows for easy rearrangement, as the armrest can be positioned on any module to suit different setups. Reposé's overall look is loose and casual, distinguishing it from the Studio series, despite sharing the same modular principle.

While Reposé is also ideal for private homes, the sofa is designed for lounging in non-traditional environments, such as offices and hotels, reflecting the increasingly fluid transition from home to public spaces. It invites you to experience the same comfort and relaxation as you would at home, even when you are not.
